KANSAS SURGERY AND RECOVERY CENTER SELECTS DOCUWARE DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

DocuWare Chosen to Meet Hospital's Document Management Needs

MONTGOMERY, NY — February 16, 2001 — DocuWare Corporation, its authorized Partner, Imaging Solutions Company of Wichita, Kansas and NetSystems, LLC, a network integrator also of Wichita, announced that the Kansas Surgery and Recovery Center (KSRC) has implemented a DocuWare document management system. KSRC is an elective surgery specialty hospital and was recently named as one of the Nation's 100 Top Orthopedic Hospitals by HCIA, Inc. and The HealthNetwork.com. KSRC is using DocuWare to provide quick and easy access to a wide range of documents including patient information, medical records and color surgical photographs to the Center's doctors and authorized medical personnel.

"The number of paper-based documents involved with health care makes medical centers ideal candidates for document management systems," said Gregory Schloemer, president of DocuWare Corporation. "Having the right information at the right time can be a life and death situation in many medical centers. A medical center using DocuWare as their document management system can pull up medical records within seconds – meeting the most time-sensitive information needs.

"In addition, DocuWare's open architecture allows medical centers to integrate it with other technologies for even more productivity and cost savings. For instance, KSRC is able to electronically file the records without time consuming manual data entry thanks to the use of advanced technologies such as bar codes, and custom software developed by NetSystems, LLC," noted Schloemer.

Because it works with scanned document images, the DocuWare document management system provides a convenient way for medical offices to store all types of medical records such as insurance information and doctor's notes. DocuWare also provides a fast and efficient way to retrieve this information when it is needed. DocuWare's search capabilities allow users to retrieve documents using any number of key pieces of information, such as name, social security number, patient ID number, doctor name, or appointment date. Finally, DocuWare's built in security features mean that once records are scanned they are tamper-proof and secure.
